In line with other NHS organisations, EPUT is experiencing recruitment challenges. The Trust is working to attract more permanent staff against a background of NHS wide staff shortages and is making good progress. 209 international nurses have joined the Trust over the last 12 months as part of our ethical recruitment campaign and there has been an improvement in our overall vacancy rate dropping to 9.8% from 18.5% a year ago. Since November of last year, we have welcomed 188 nursing colleagues into our wards and community settings thanks to a locality based recruitment drive. We have also been focusing on encouraging bank staff to join the Trust on permanent contracts and ensuring agency staff work regularly in the same areas, so far we have successfully moved 224 of our bank and agency colleagues into permanent roles.
